

We are pleased to announce the Children's Theatre of Knoxville is preparing for their next production, "Little Prince".

If possible please consider sponsorship... Every penny counts and helps us continue this program.

Have you heard about Children's Theatre of Knoxville? Children's Theatre of Knoxville, Inc. (CTK) is a newly-formed non-profit corporation, which produces full-scale theatrical productions for children and families. Since May, the company's last two productions, The Princess and the Pauper (from the Mark Twain story) and Treasure Island USA (from the Robert Louis Stevenson novel) have featured over a dozen talented young actors under the age of 14 and played to over 600 enthusiastic audience members. CTK also provides courses in creative dramatics on the elementary, middle, and high-school level, taught by highly qualified instructors with over 30 years combined teaching experience.

CTK was formed in October 2007 by Jenny Ballard, who serves as Artistic Director, and Zack Allen, who serves as the corporation's Executive Director. The organization operates under Tennessee State Charter #0561570.

Why should you donate?

1. You support the cultural education of Knoxville's children.
2. You see the need for cultural events designed especially for children.
3. You receive the tax benefits of a charitable contribution.
4. And... how can you say no to kids that memorize 90 minutes of dialogue

What I need for your support:

1. Commitment level you want to be included in (see attachment)
2. A contact to get your logo
3. As soon as you can a check written to: Children's Theatre of Knoxville, Inc.
